Jack Evans Wins Ward 2 City Council Seat

At The Polls

Harold Sarbacher

"It's Been A Long Day. But I Think We Have A Winner!"

But just how did Ward 2 residents vote?

From Lyn Fischman, special ballot clerk at St. Mary's: "Of the 2,055 eligible voters, nearly 35% turned out to vote, a fantastic figure for a local election. The rate of voters at St. Mary's was approximately one per minute, running to 55 per hour. As expected, the 2-hour period from 7:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m. and the 3-hour period from 5:00 to 8:00 p.m. were the heaviest, and accounted for about 15% of the total vote."

From Harold Sarbacher, Evans' campaign worker: "No question about it, Foggy Bottom took him over the top. Precinct 3 residents, in an unusual show of voters, crowded the polls at St. Mary's and at times it seemed more like a private party."

The winning plurality was 386 votes, 280 of which came from precincts 2, 3 and 4. The 198 Evans' votes at St. Mary's were responsible for over 50% of the winning plurality.

A large part of the victory was attributed to a well-coordinated and hard-working campaign staff, as well as a rash of "meet and greet" parties for Evans, held at the larger apartment buildings in Foggy Bottom.

Evans and his campaign staff lost no time in phoning and writing individual thanks to the community, and he appeared at the May 9 ANC-2A meeting to thank the Ward 2 voters personally, promising them that he would support their concerns on City Council.

Evans will now Chair the Committee on Self-Determination, and sit on the Committee on Public Services, the Committee on Public Works and the Committee on Regional Authorities.

"Don't Cause Any Trouble...I Have A Knife"

These were the frightening words that 79-year-old Watergate resident John Cannady heard as he lay flat on the ground at the underpass at 26th and K Streets, hoping his attacker would spare his life.

This was the second time in two years that Cannady had been threatened at the same spot. Last year he was lucky. He diverted an attack by two men who had split to wait on either end of the tunnel to rob him as he entered. He did not; he moved in another direction.

C&P Telephone Proposed Increase of 57% "Outrageous!"

A request by the C&P Telephone Company to have a $44.4 million increase in a variety of telephone fees is documented in Bill 850 at the Public Service Commission.

It translates to a 57% increase in residential fees, and a mere 5% increase in commercial business fees.

Docket 212, on 4/24/91, refers to a letter from William P. Gilbreath, dated 4/20/91, to Jesse Clay of C&P which says that Gilbreath is concerned that "a public utility would have the nerve to request a 57% increase."

If Foggy Bottom residents agree that this increase is "outrageous," they may register concern by cutting out the reply form below, adding name and phone number, and sending it to the Foggy Bottom News. We will forward the information to the ANC-2A Commissioners, the Foggy Bottom Executive Board, and to the appropriate people at C&P Telephone.

"Well . . . We Tried!"

ANC-2A NEWS

Jack Evans, fresh from his victory for the Ward 2 City Council seat, took the time to come by the Advisory Neighborhood Commission meeting at the Wyndham Bristol, to express his thanks and pledge his support to the community that took him over the top. It was a simple courtesy . . . and the audience loved the acknowledgment.

Highlights of ANC-2A

At the continuation of its regular April monthly meeting held on April 25, ANC-2A did the following:

- Supported the application by Howard's Liquor store to move to the nearby Mullet townhouse building, subject to the management agreement worked out between the owners and the ANC.
- Opposed the proposed Historic Landmark and Historic Protection Community Participation Act of 1991 (Bill 9-144), the effect of which, if enacted, would undermine the protection of districts and buildings which potentially could qualify for historic designation or landmarking.
- Supported the proposed Advisory Neighborhood Commissions' Notice Clarification Act of 1991 (Bill 9-83).

- Supported the continuation of a certificate of occupancy for commercial automobile parking in the Statesman apartment building at 2020 F Street.
- Passed an action resolution on Planning for Protection of the Foggy Bottom/West End Neighborhood: Phase I Implementation.

At its regular monthly meeting on 9 May, ANC-2A did the following:

- Heard from Lt. Willie Burton of the Second District Metropolitan Police Department on several public safety issues and ways to address them (e.g., aggressive roadway panhandling, pedestrian tunnel at 26th and K Streets, recent break-ins and attempted break-ins in the neighborhood).
- Passed a resolution requesting an expedited hearing from the Zoning Commission on downzoning in the Foggy Bottom Historic District.
- Voted not to oppose the application for liquor license renewals from Milo's (2142 Pennsylvania Avenue) and Health-A-Popping (2020 K Street).
- Postponed the remainder of the meeting in order to complete the agenda to a reconvened date of May 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Wyndham Bristol Hotel.

Tunnel Closing Proposed

Responding to recent reports of muggings, the ANC is considering a proposal to request that the pedestrian tunnel at 26th & K Street be closed. Second District Police Lt. Willie Burton appeared at the last ANC meeting to hear the community's concerns about the tunnel.

Also discussed was aggressive panhandling by the homeless and other persons, which some citizens feel has become a threat to the community. Lt. Burton told those in attendance that the D.C. Corporation Counsel is losing the cases brought up because of inadequate language in the law.

The community at large is asked to report any aggressive panhandling, intimidation, muggings, robberies and any other threat to their safety. Many of these infractions have not been reported officially to the police, and it is important that the community have accurate statistics which will give "weight" to any proposal developed for the safety of our citizens. No action will be taken unless there is a record of a problem.

Lt. Burton suggested reports be made to the following:

Detective Blalock (robberies):
(202) 282-0043

Detective Scott (assault): —
(202) 282-0043

Sergeant James (foot patrol):
(202) 282-0050.

Crime prevention is every citizen's responsibility. Help keep our residential neighborhoods safe by reporting non-emergency, suspicious activity to the Metropolitan Police Department at 727-4326 and calling 911 for all emergencies.

On Monday, April 29th, at 3:30 p.m., a woman staggered out of the tunnel at 26th and K Streets, sobbing "Help, call the police. I've been robbed." The victim was discovered by Ruth Knauff who took her back to the Griffin and called the police, who came immediately.

"He came from behind and pushed me against the stairs. my face and right side hit the wall and stairs. He was gone by the time I got up."

The 76-year-old resident of Foggy Bottom was muddy, hurt, frail and frightened. Although she had worn her purse across her chest, the robber broke the strap, and stole over $100 in cash, credit cards and keys.

Thanks to Ruth Knauff, who not only brought help quickly, but stood up at the Foggy Bottom meeting that evening and told the audience about the incident and cautioned against using the tunnel.

"Don't . . ."

21st at 2:30 p.m., he had not seen the man following him as he headed for the tunnel. Before he could react, two hands circled his throat and shoved him to the ground. "Don't cause any trouble, I have a knife," threatened the attacker, as he proceeded to steal Cannady's wallet and watch, leaving him with a warning nick of the knife to his neck.

A call to the police was made by someone who had seen the trouble. Within minutes the Second District Police arrived and immediately rounded up three vagrants for identification. Since Cannady was face down during the attack, he was unable to identify or describe his attacker, and the suspects were released. An ambulance arrived, but Cannady refused to go to hospital and was driven home by the police.

At a recent Foggy Bottom meeting, Cannady got up and told the audience what had happened. He asked that the neighbors consider sealing up the tunnel which has become a receptacle of filth and a source of danger.

When interviewed at his home he said that the reason he brought his story to the Foggy Bottom audience was not for any reason other than "people might be protected from this hazard."

May Update

Co-Generation Plant proposal by Georgetown University has received approval by BZA, contingent upon an environmental impact study by the city.

2501: Proposal for Construction of highrise on Pennsylvania Avenue has received contingent approval from the Historic Preservation Board. However, BZA must approve a variety of variances before property can proceed. The design, which does not allow room for fire trucks to enter the alley to the proposed building, jeopardizing the safety of potential inhabitants, has also been a sticking point in negotiations.

Blackie's proposal. Citizens' groups have protested "amenity package" which developers give to the community for not meeting specifications of residential and commercial balance. The "amenity package" offered to ANC-2A was a donation of one million dollars to a hospital in southeast D.C. Nice for Southeast, but not exactly an amenity for Ward 2.

Howard's Liquors, "Mr. Nice Guy," has received approval from ANC-2A for a liquor license transfer on 25th and Pennsylvania Avenue, after agree-

IMF Opens D.C. Bicentennial Exhibit

"Washington, D.C.: 200 Years Through Architecture," is the title of the exhibit being shown through June 18 at the IMF Visitors' Center, 700 19th Street, N.W. The Center is open daily from 9:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

This exhibition traces two hundred years of Washington history through architecture as depicted in engravings, maps, photographs, drawings, and paintings.

1791. L'Enfant's brilliant but largely unrealized scheme for Washington is inspired by eight cities of Europe: Paris, London, Amsterdam, Madrid, Genoa, Naples, Florence and Venice. L'Enfant's vision is appropriate to the topography, climate, indigenous materials, and purposes of the city: that is, affairs of state. His design reflects his belief in this new social and political order where the powerful and the humble are equally represented.

1800-1850. In the absence of trained U.S.-born architects, only talented amateurs make use of L'Enfant's architectural pattern books. His floor plans, facades, and ornaments are modified to suit the taste of the builder or client. Few move here, most developers bankrupt, and the city languishes.

1880-1900. Washington grows dramatically (from 40,000 to 280,000 in 1900) and this growth coincides with the first Americans to be trained as architects, primarily at Ecole des Beaux Arts. Demand for housing, and commercial and government buildings, results in thousands of new structures frequently (and loosely) styled after the romantic Italianate, French mansarded Empire III, and Richardsonian Romanesque Revival.

With the industrial revolution creating enormous private fortunes, demand grows for social and physical improvements appropriate to a national capital. In 1899, Frederick Law Olmsted, Jr., lays out his plan for the city. Motivated by Greek democratic ideals, Roman republican stateliness, nineteenth century English social consciousness, and French artistry, he calls for a return to L'Enfant's urbane concepts and an integral park system.

City Beautiful Movement (1900-1935). For 35 years Rick Olmsted guides Washington through a concept originated at Vanderbilt's Biltmore estate. Historicism become the acknowledged, appropriate, and socially acceptable architectural style. New commercial development is still dominated by historically inspired structures.

This exhibition has been made possible thanks to the cooperation of the Kiplinger Foundation, the U.S. Commission of Fine Arts, the American Institute of Architects, and the D.C. Commission on the Arts and Humanities. Organized by the D.C. Bicentennial Commission and the IMF Visitors' Center, it is curated by Harriet Lesser (with Don Hawkins and Sibley Jennings, Architects), and is sponsored by Coopers & Lybrand.

The opening of the exhibit, on May 15, was a gala and standing-room only event, with D.C. Mayor Sharon Pratt Dixon playing an important role. Foggy Bottom residents will recognize more than one of the buildings pictured or illustrated in the exhibition.

George Washington University Gives A Party For Foggy Bottom

In a continuing effort to interface with the Foggy Bottom community, George Washington University hosted an outdoor luncheon for residents of Foggy Bottom on Sunday, May 5. A huge blue and white tent festooned with balloons housed a delicious and varied buffet while music played in the background.

President Stephen Joel Trachtenberg, Vice President Walter Bortz and the University Relations Office's Jane Lingo greeted the guests and took time to visit with many of the visitors to the campus.

Spotted in the crowd were Harold Sarbacher and Harry King from Watergate West, Barbara Kahlow, Mike Walden, and Ray and Jolene Blozis from the Westbridge, Chris and Mary Lamb from the Savoy, and a variety of residents from the area.

City to Honor Desert Storm Veterans

The largest military parade since World War II will be held June 8 on Constitution Avenue to honor the U.S. troops who participated in Desert Storm operation.

There will be 10,500 service personnel participating and will be part of a daylong tribute to the U.S. troops who helped liberate Kuwait. The procession will be led by General H. Norman Schwarzkopf, commander of Desert Storm.

Every branch of the military service and every unit that took part in the military operation will be reviewed by President Bush.

The tribute is scheduled to begin at 9:00 a.m. with a memorial service at Arlington National Cemetery for those who died in the war.

The parade is slated to begin at 1:00 on Capitol Hill and proceed along Constitution Avenue, past the Vietnam Veterans and Korean War memorials and end near the Theodore Roosevelt Bridge. The exact route has not been determined. In addition to the troops and military hardware, the parade will include military bands and floats.

After the parade, spectators will be able to do some reviewing of their own on the Mall, where various types of weaponry and equipment used in the Gulf War will be on display. Members of the military will be on hand to explain the equipment and answer questions.

A picnic, probably the largest ever, will be held for the troops on the Ellipse. Each of the expected 10,500 marchers will be invited.

The tribute will continue at approximately 7 p.m. on the Mall with a "USO entertainment gala." The tribute will climax about 9 p.m. with a fireworks display.

Iona Honors Margaret Lindsay As Super Senior

IONA Senior Services celebrated their 8th Annual Super Senior Day, honoring 52 outstanding volunteers over the age of 65 who live and/or volunteer in the northwest Washington community. The event held in St. Alban's Satterlee Hall was attended by over 200 people. Veronica Pace, Executive Director of the D.C. Office on Aging, addressed the group followed by the presentation of certificates by D.C. Ward 3 Councilman Jim Nathanson.

Among this year's distinguished volunteers is Margaret Lindsay of St. Paul's Episcopal Church. A parishioner for many years, Miss Lindsay has made a tremendous contribution to the ministry of the parish as an assisting treasurer, parish office worker and member of the Altar Guild. Ever faithful and dedicated, Miss Lindsay spends many hours each week tending to many aspects of parish life which makes St. Paul's church office run smoothly. St. Paul's wants to congratulate and thank Margaret Lindsay for her many years of volunteer help and caring.

In My Opinion

Social Security

My old friend Fred was complaining, as he does frequently.

"I've been trying to find someone to come in, help take care of my wife," he said. "You wouldn't believe nobody wants to work."

"They don't?" I said.

"No more," said Fred, "You take, some years back, old Aunt Sarah had a bad stroke. They got a widow woman to come in, cleaned her up, got her breakfast, tidied up the house, and so on. She did the laundry, got the meals, and then, after early supper, got Aunt Sarah back to bed. And that was that."

"Sounds like a long day," I said.

"Sure, but no heavy work," said Fred. "She was treated like family. Aunt Sarah loved Miss Clemens."

"And for all that, how much did you pay her?" I inquired.

"I was comin' to that," said Fred. "All it cost was thirty five dollars a week. Cash."

"Sounds awful low," I said.

"A dollar bought a lot more then," said Fred, "and, livin' with her son, Miss Clemens was able to get by."

"Anyway," said Fred, "Now nobody wants to work. Couple of widows, they got Social Security, don't hafta take a helper job. Another one, she wants minimum wage, that's like hundred sixty a week, forty hours, and there's forms to send in, and you got to pay Social Security tax."

I didn't want Fred to think I was unsympathetic, but it's better today. A widow, or anybody, shouldn't have to take a job as a devoted slave. With Social Security they can live out their lives with some dignity. We have to find a way to live with that.

One thing the economists don't emphasize: the stability these huge Social Security payment give as a base for our economy. It's now nearly eighteen billion dollars every month, and most of it is spent quickly. Without it, welfare rolls would be a lot higher.

Foggy Bottom. We cannot say exactly how many in Foggy Bottom are receiving Social Security. But, excluding students, it is estimated over half receive this monthly check. For many it means dignity and independence, instead of being a burden on a son or daughter, or the bitter bread of charity income sad and impersonal "home."

I have an idea. Change the rules to make funds available for seniors to move in together, for lower living costs, better security, and being better able to cope with health emergencies.

Where help is needed, the "golden age" monthly check could make such arrangements possible, at less than a third of the fees now being paid for inadequate care in a nursing home.

More on this, next time.

SEWALK TALK

By Betty Olsen

Columbia Hospital's Health Fair last month was a BIG success. The Ambulatory Care Administrator, Carmen Coury, was on hand to greet and meet everyone in their new center. Several employees gave of their time to administer the tests of blood pressure, cholesterol, hearing, glaucoma, etc. all with BIG smiles on their faces as you came and went. I even had my weight taken oh-oh by a 100-pound volunteer so that I could go right home and set my scales properly to keep track of it. (My scales at home were right; I was just hoping they were wrong.) Anyway almost 100 Foggy Bottomites took advantage of the invitation to stop by and were as pleased as I was that they did. There was some talk while I was there that Columbia Hospital was in the planning stages for another event to get us together again, this time, perhaps at a picnic or something like that. I will look for you then as well as meeting again all the people at Columbia Hospital with the BIG smiles and Helping Hands.

If you missed the Potomac International Regatta — you really missed the boat — just couldn't resist the pun. It was the second one that has been held at the Thompson Boat Center and Washington Harbor site and it was a SITE and a SIGHT to see. Crew teams from all over were there rowing their hearts out. The two-day affair ended Sunday in rainy weather as were the Saturday events, with the boys from Harvard taking first, Brown second, Northeastern third, and Princeton fourth. In the girls division UCLA won the finals followed by Wisconsin, Northeastern and Virginia. White tents were everywhere with straw boater hats on the men and women, striped V-neck sweaters and even striped Henley style jackets complete with ascots — very British — don't you know. It will probably be scheduled around the same time next year so I am telling you now — this is just one more event right in our Foggy Bottom area which is worth, really worth, circling on your calendar. Wedgewood trophies were presented to the winners.

Speaking of things we were all invited to: George Washington University through the courtesy of the University and its President Stephen Joel Trachtenberg invited us to choose one of three Lisner Series to attend. My choice was "A Salute to Duke" Ellington. I heard that the biggest turnout was for the Ellington night with some oldie goldies as they call them today played as only the Ellington Orchestra under the direction of his son Marcis could play them. A reception was specially hosted by the University for us, their guests, downstairs in the Dimock Gallery. Saw Walter Anderson, a musician himself, talking to Walter Bortz and his wife and Admiral Duggan Shipway and his wife stopping by to join the group. Jane Lingo of University Relations was everywhere to make sure that everyone had a good time and that we did. Thanks.

David Fothergill-Quinlan looks mar-veh-lous. When I saw him recently I couldn't believe that it was the same David Fothergill-Quinlan. Well, in many ways (weighs I mean) it is not, but in mannnnnny ways it still is. Guess that is a lot of weight off your mind, isn't it David? Applause, applause from all of us to you; you deserve a lot of credit and HERE IT IS for the new you.

The "Tennis anyone" ad last time and this for the Visitation Tennis Group that meets in Georgetown for a round or two was placed by Mary Anne O'Donnell last month. When she called she had never seen a copy of the Foggy Bottom News, so I sent her one with the usual packet of information. The next time she called I was doubly pleased to hear from her because of the praise of the paper and how much she had enjoyed it and she doesn't even live here!

Potomac Plaza's Louise Remmey received a music critic's fellowship to the first Irving S. Gilmore International Keyboard Festival based this year in Kalamazoo, Michigan, but extending to Ann Arbor, Lansing, Grand Rapids, and other cities throughout the state.

She participated in seminars and panel discussions and heard the first person selected as "Gilmore Artist," 38 year old David Owen Norris of England. Other artists taking part in the festival included Alicia de Larrocha, Vladimir Feltsman, Van Cliburn, Leon Fleisher, Igor Kipnis, Malcolm Bilson, Hans Graf, Billy Taylor, Chick Corea, and math major Christopher Taylor from Harvard, who won the finals of the William Kapell competition at the Kennedy Center last July.

Wally Bruchner, formerly of SNN (Sports News Network) which before its New Jersey day was based in the Gannett Building in Arlington, was put up at 925 25th Street by the company then. So when the cablevision network folded last year and he became Sports Anchor for WRC-TV Channel 4 he chose Foggy Bottom to make his home again. Welcome, Wally. We're proud as NBC peacocks that you're back again in the neighborhood.

Mystery lovers will have a treat in store for them at the West End Library. A generous donation in the memory of Mrs. Reile Rinde has been made to the West End Library Friends for the purchase of mystery books. Mrs. Rinde was a long-time resident of the neighborhood and a devoted fan of mysteries.

The Friends will meet on Saturday, June 1, at 2:00 P.M. at the library. Topics at the meeting will include progress of the membership drive and a financial report. There will also be a discussion of what the Friends' priority should be for further assistance to the library.

To date this year, the Friends have contributed over $750 for the purchase of books and periodicals, President Robert C. Brewster reports. The group is also arranging for new landscaping at the library.
